It doesn't matter. The valve will, on request via help.steampowered.com, issue a refund for any reason, if a request is made within the required return period, and, in case of the game, if the title has been played less than two hours. There are more details below, but even if you fall outside the refund rules we have described, you can request a refund and we'll see. You will be issued a full refund of your purchase within a week of approval. You will receive a refund in the Wallet Steam fund or through the same payment method you used to make a purchase. If, for whatever reason, Steam is unable to withdraw the refund via your initial payment method, your Steam Wallet will be credited with the full amount. (Some payment methods available through Steam in your country may not support refund of purchases back to the original payment method. Click here for the full list.) Steam refund offers, within two weeks of purchase and with less than two hours of playing time, apply to games and software applications in steam shops. Here's an overview of how refunds work with other types of purchases. Refunds on Downloadable Content (Store steam content that can be used in games or other software applications, DLCs) DLCs purchased from steam stores will be returned within fourteen days of purchase, and if the base title has been played less than two hours since the DLC was purchased, as long as the DLC was not consumed, modified or moved. Please note that in some cases, Steam is unable to provide a refund for some third-party DLCs (for example, if the DLC is irresponsibly flattering gameplay). These exceptions will be clearly marked as non-refundable on the Store page before the purchase. A refund on In-Game Purchasing Steam will offer a refund for in-game purchases in any game developed Valve within forty-eight hours of purchase, as long as the in-game item has been eaten, modified or transferred. Third-party developers will have the option to enable refunds for in-game items on these terms. Steam will notify you at the time of purchase if the game developer has chosen to offer a refund on the in-game item you bought. Otherwise, in-game purchases in non-valve games will not be returned via Steam. Refunds on Pre-Purchase Title When you pre-purchase the title on Steam (and have paid for the title in advance), you can request a refund at any time before releasing the title. The standard 14/two-hour refund period also applies, starting on the game release date. Steam Wallet Refund You can request a refund for a Wallet Steam fund within fourteen days of purchase if they are purchased on Steam and if you do not use any of those funds. Renewable Subscriptions For some content and services, Steam offers periodic access (e.g. monthly, yearly) that you repeatedly pay for. If a renewable subscription is not used during the current billing cycle, you can request a refund within 48 hours of initial purchase or within 48 hours of automatic renewal. Content is considered to be used if any game in a subscription has been played during the current billing cycle or if any interest or discount accpyred with a subscription has been used, consumed, modified or transferred. Please note that you can cancel an active subscription at any time by going to your account details. Once canceled, your subscription will no longer be automatically renewed but you will retain access to the content and benefits of the subscription through the end of your current billing cycle. Steam Hardware Within the applicable timeframe identified in the Hardware Refund Policy, you can request a refund of the steam hardware and accessories purchased via Steam for any reason. You must send the hardware back to us within fourteen (14) days after requesting a refund, following the instructions we provided to you. Please see the Hardware Refund Policy for detailed guidelines on return and cancellation processes for Steam hardware and accessories. Refunds on Package You can receive a full refund for any package purchased at the Steam Store, as long as no items in the package have been transferred, and if the combined usage time for all items in the package is less than two hours. If the package includes non-refundable in-game DLC items, Steam will notify you if the entire package will be returned upon check out. Purchases Made Outside of Steam Valve are unable to provide refunds for purchases made outside of Steam CD keys or steam wallet cards purchased from third parties. Vac Bans If you've been banned by the VAC (Valve Anti-Cheat system) on the game, you lose the right to return that game. Video Content We can't offer a refund for video content on Steam (e.g. movies, shorts, series, episodes, and tutorials), unless the video is in a package with other content (not video). Video, non-redemption prizes can be refunded within a standard refund of 14 days/two hours. Redeemed gifts can be refunded in the same circumstances if the gift recipient commences a refund. Funds used to buy gifts will be returned to the original buyer. EU WITHDRAWAL RIGHTS For an explanation of how the EU's right of withdrawal works for steam customers, click here. Abuse Refunds are designed to eliminate risks from purchasing titles on Steam—not as a way to get free games. If it turns out to us that you are abusing a refund, we may stop offering it to you. We don't consider it an abuse to ask for a refund on the title purchased before the sale and then immediately rebuild the title for the sale price. You can request a refund or seek other help with your steam purchases help.steampowered.com. Updated on November 10, 2020 Page 6 You can request a refund for almost any purchase on Steam—for any reason. Perhaps your PC does not meet hardware requirements: maybe you bought the game in error: maybe you played the title for an hour and just don't like it. It doesn't matter. Definitions Wherever we talk about Personal Data below, we mean any information that can identify you as an individual (Personally Identifiable Information) or that may be directly connected to you by linking it to personally identifiable information. Valve also processes anonymous, aggregated or non-data, to analyze and produce statistics related to customer habits, consumption patterns, and demographics as groups or as individuals. Such anonymous data does not allow the identification of customers associated with it. Valves can share data anonymously, aggregated or not, with third parties. Other terms capitalised in this Privacy Policy shall have the meanings defined in the Steam Customer Agreement (SSA). 2. Why Valve Collects and Processes Data Valve collects and processes Personal Data for the following reasons: a) where necessary for the performance of our agreement with you to provide fully featured game services and deliver relevant Content and Services; b) if necessary to comply with legal obligations which we are subject to (e.g. our obligation to keep certain information under tax law); c) where necessary for the purposes of legitimate and valid valve or third party interests (e.g. the interests of our other customers), unless such interest is replaced by your legitimate interests and rights; or d) where you have given him consent. These reasons for collecting and processing Personal Data determine and limit the personal data we collect and how we use it (section 3. below), how long we keep it (section 4. below), which has access to it (section 5. below) and what other rights and control mechanisms are available to you as a user (section 6. below). 3. Types and Data Sources We Collect 3.1 Basic Account Data When preparing an Account, Valve will your email address and country of residence. You are also required to select a username and password. Preparation of this information is necessary to register Steam Users During your account setup, accounts are automatically assigned numbers (Steam ID) that are then used to refer to your user account without disclosing Personally Identifiable Information directly about you. We do not require you to provide or use your real name for Steam User Account setup. 3.2 Transactions and Payment Data To make transactions on Steam (e.g. to purchase a Content and Services Subscription or to fund your Steam Wallet), you may need to provide payment data to the Valve to enable transactions. If you pay with a credit card, you will need to provide typical credit card information (name, address, credit card number, expiration date and security code) to the Valve, whose Valve will process and send to your preferred payment service provider to enable transactions and perform anti-fraud checks. Similarly, Valve will receive data from your payment service provider for the same reasons. 3.3 Other Data You Explicitly Send Us will collect and process Personal Data when you provide it expressly to us or submit it as part of a communication with others on Steam, for example in the Steam Community Forum, chat, or when you provide feedback or content that users generate. This data includes: Information you post, comment or follow any of our Content and Services; Information transmitted via chat; Information you provide when you request information or support from us or purchase Content and Services from us, including information necessary to process your order with the relevant payment merchant or, in the event of physical goods, delivery providers; Information you provide us when participating in contests, contests, and competitions, or answering surveys, for example your contact details. 3.4 Customer Usage and Your Steam Website. We collect a variety of information through your general interactions with the website, Content and Services offered by Steam. The Personal Data we collect may include, but is not limited to, browser and device information, data collected through automated electronic interactions and application usage data. Similarly, we will track your process throughout our websites and apps to verify that you are not a bot and to optimize our services. 3.5 Your Use of the Games and other Subscriptions To provide you with services, we need to collect, store and use a variety of information about your activity in our Content and Services. Content Related Information includes your Steam ID, as well as what's commonly referred to as game statistics. According to the game statistics, we mean information about your game preferences, progress in the game, and information about the device you are using, including the operating system you are using, device settings, unique device critics and crash data. 3.6 Our Tracking and Cookie Data uses Cookies, i.e. text files placed on your computer and similar technologies (e.g. web beacons, pixels, advertising tags and device critics) to help us analyze users use our services, as well as to improve the services we offer, to improve marketing, analytics or website coherency. The use of Cookies is standard on the internet. Although most web browsers automatically accept cookies, the decision whether to accept or not is you. You can adjust your browser settings to prevent receipt of cookies, or to provide notifications when a cookie is sent to you. You can decline the use of cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser. Cookie deployment management for each browser is further described on the following help page . However, please note that if you do this, you may not be able to access the full functionality of our website. When you visit any of our services, our servers log your IP address, which is a number that is automatically assigned to your computer network is part of. 3.7 Content Suggestions We may process information collected under this section 3 so that the content, products and services shown on the steam shop page and in the update messages displayed when launching Steam Customer can be customized to meet your requirements and be inhabited with relevant suggestions and offers. This is done to improve your customer experience. You can prevent the processing of your data this way by turning off automatic loading of steam store pages and steam notifications in the Steam Customer settings Interface section. Subject to your separate consent or if expressly permitted under applicable law on email marketing, Valve may send marketing messages about the products and services offered by Valve to your email address. In such cases, we may also use the information collected to customize those marketing messages and collect information about whether you open the message and which links in their text you follow. You may opt out or withdraw your consent to receive marketing emails at any time by either withdrawing consent on the same page where you set it up or clicking the unsubscribe link provided in each marketing email. 3.8 Information Required to Detect Violations We collect certain data necessary for detection, fraud investigation and prevention, fraud and other violations of the SSA and applicable laws (Violations). This data is used only for detection, investigation, prevention and, where applicable, acts on such violations and is stored only for the minimum amount of time required for this purpose. If data indicates that a breach has occurred, we will retain the for the establishment, training or defense of legal claims during the statute of applicable limitations or until the legal case in connection thereof has been resolved. To learn more about the Privacy Shield program, and to view our certification, please visit . In accordance with the Privacy Shield Principles, Valves is committed to resolving complaints about the collection or use of your personal information. EU and Swiss individuals with questions or complaints about our Privacy Shield policy should first contact the Valve here. If you have unresolved privacy or data usage concerns that we have not satisfactorily addressed, please contact our U.S.-based third-party dispute resolution provider (free of charge) at: . As described in the Privacy Shield (id) documentation certain waste claims that are not resolved in other ways may be subject to binding arbitration. In such circumstances, arbitration options will be available to you. The Privacy Shield Principles describes Valve's accountability for Personal Data that it is subsequently transferred to a third-party agent. Under the Principle, the Valve shall remain liable if a third-party agent processes personal information in a manner inconsistent with the Principle, unless the Valve proves that it is not responsible for events that inflict damage. The Federal Trade Commission has jurisdiction over Valve compliance with the Privacy Shield. 10. Additional Information for Users from California CCPA gives California residents a particular privacy right about the Personal Data we collect. We are committed to respecting these rights and complying with CCPA. The following explains these rights and valve practices with respect to them. Right to Know. Under the CCPA you have the right to ask us to disclose to you the personal data we collect, use, disclose and sell. Right to Request Judgment. You also have the right to request the production of Personal Data that is in our possession, subject to exclusions Please note that your request to delete data may affect the use of Steam services in some cases, and we may refuse to delete the information for the reasons described in this Privacy or as permitted by CCPA. Other rights. The CCPA also gives California residents the right to withdraw from the sale of their Personal Data. As described in section 5, we do not sell Personal Data and do not do so in the last 12 months. You also have the right to receive our practice notice on or before the collection of your Personal Data. Finally, you have the right not to discriminate to exercise your rights under the CCPA. Exercise Your Rights. The primary way to access, manage or delete your Personal Data is through the Privacy Dashboard, as described in section 6 of this Policy. Customers may also delete their Steam Account and the relevant Personal Data as described in section 6.3 of this Privacy Policy. If you are unable to access or delete data through the Privacy Dashboard, you can also contact us with a request to exercise this right by using the form . To verify your identity, you need to log in with your Steam User Account to use the form. Finally, you can contact us by request in questions@valvesoftware.com, however, before providing access to, or deleting anything, Personal Data, based on requests received via email, we need to verify your identity using the Proof of Ownership process described in . You may prescribe, in writing or through the power of attorney, an agent authorized to make a request on your behalf to exercise your rights under the CCPA. Before receiving such requests from an agent, we will ask the agent to provide proof that you have appointed him to act on your behalf, and we may require you to verify your identity directly with us. Categories, Resources, Purposes and Data Recipients We Collect. Over the past 12 months, we have collected the categories of Personal Data described in section 3 of this Privacy Policy. The resources in which we collect Personal Data, and the purposes for which we collect and process them, are described in sections 2 and 3. During the previous 12 months, we have disclosed for business purposes of each category of Personal Data with third-party categories as described in section 5.
